

LAWN TENNIS AND GOLF FEATURES OF DAY IN SPORTS—RACING AT THREE BIG TRACKS

ATHLETICS FLASH THE OLD PUNCH AND CONNIE MACK IS HAPPY

"Best Attack We Have Shown in Years," Says Tall Trojan of New Hit-and-Run Tactics—Phillies, With Small Pitching Staff, Will Suffer as Double-Header Pile Up.

After yesterday's game with Cleveland, Manager Mack smilingly said: "It was the best attack we have shown in two years," referring to the wonderful exhibition of hit-and-run play given by the Athletics in the sixth inning, when six runs were tallied. The manner in which this play was successfully worked was a treat, and the fans left Shibe Park thrilled by the show of the old punch that many thought had gone.

Four successive times a Mackman started to steal and the batsman sent the ball whizzing through short field just as Chapman was reaching second to receive the throw from Egan. In each instance a runner scored, while the man who had started the play with an apparent attempt to steal went over to third and brought the same identical situation up for the next batsman. Stranger still was the fact that Chapman was covering on each play, the Cleveland infield evidently thinking that the Athletics would never look for this condition, but either the batsmen were showing uncanny intuition or some one was picking off the visitors' infield signs.

A New System of Mackian Attack

This was not the only time during the game that the play was worked successfully. Lapp and Malone, the latter a youngster of whom but little would naturally be expected on inside stuff of this sort, each worked the play twice during the game. Malone made a great impression on the crowd by the intelligent manner he moved on the bases.

Perhaps yesterday's exhibition was but a flash in the pan, and may have been due more to the poor battery and infield work of Cleveland than to the brilliancy of the Athletics' attack, but it appeared more like initiation of a new rapid-fire system of offense by Manager Mack. If it is continued it will play havoc with seven other American League clubs for the remainder of the season, as it is next to impossible to break this play up when it is worked right.

Lapp Victim of Inadequate Scoring Rules

According to the old scoring rules, Jack Lapp would be credited with an error for making a perfect throw to second in the second inning. Graney walked and tried to steal on the first ball pitched. Lapp made a perfect throw to second, but neither Barry nor Malone made any attempt to cover the bag, and the ball went out into center, while Graney reached third.

It is one of the few points in the scoring rules that have not been perfected and probably never will be. An attempt is being made to permit the official scorer to use his own judgment on a play of this sort and give either the second baseman or shortstop an error, according to whether the hitter is a right-hander likely to hit through short, or a left-hander who is likely to hit on the right side of the diamond. This proves inadequate, as it does not always follow that batsmen hit to any particular field all the time. For instance, a large percentage of the left-handed batsmen hit to left field more often than to right, and on this line of reasoning it would be proper for the second baseman to cover to lessen the chances of a successful hit-and-run play. But, according to the change, the shortstop would receive the error for doing the proper thing, just as Lapp must be credited with a misplay on a perfect throw, under the old rule.

Kopf's Home Run a Record at Shibe Park

Bill Kopf accomplished what was considered an impossible feat when he made a home run to left field inside Shibe Park. Several players have made home runs to the deep center-field fence, including Cobb, Collins, Barry, McInnis and Pratt, but it was considered an impossibility for a man to make a homer to dead left, with such a short bleacher wall. Smith played Kopf's drive badly and overran it instead of playing it safe and holding it to a single. However, it required some fast sprinting by Kopf to turn the trick.

pitched ball. O'Neill fouled to Walsh. Morton doubled to the bleachers wall in left field, scoring Graney and Wambanzana. Southworth beat out an infield hit, Morton stopping at third. The double hit was tried, but Morton was caught and run down, Lapp to Malone to Kopf to Malone, who covered the plate. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

Wambanzana made a one-handed stop and threw out McInnis. A marvelous one-handed catch by Southworth retired Strunk. Lapp out. Wood to Morton, who covered the bag. No runs, no hits, no errors.

THIRD INNING.

Turner fled to Strunk. Chapman beat out an infield hit. Wood fled to Walsh. Chapman stole second. Graney singled to right, scoring Chapman, and went to second on the throw to the plate and continued on to third when Bressler let the ball get away from him. Smith fled to Murphy. One run, two hits, one error. Malone walked. Kopf fanned. Bressler hit into a double play, Wambanzana to Turner to Wood. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING.

Malone threw Wambanzana out. O'Neill fled to Walsh. Barry threw Morton's third strike, but threw him out at first. No runs, no hits, no errors. Murphy fled to Smith. Barry fled to Southworth. Turner threw Walsh out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FIFTH INNING.

Southworth walked. Turner sacrificed. Lapp to McInnis. Chapman also walked. Wood fled to Lapp. Graney walked, filling the bases. Smith fled to Walsh. No runs, no hits, no errors. McInnis singled to left. Strunk fled to Southworth. Lapp fanned. Morton threw out Malone. No runs, one hit, no errors.

SIXTH INNING.

Wambanzana walked. O'Neill sacrificed. Bressler to McInnis. Barry threw out Morton. Wambanzana going to third. Malone threw out Southworth. No runs, no hits, no errors. Kopf fled to Southworth. Bressler fouled to Wood. Chapman threw Murphy out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SEVENTH INNING.

Turner walked. Chapman sacrificed. Bressler to McInnis. Barry threw out Wood. Turner stopping at third. Barry threw out Graney. No runs, no hits, no errors. Barry fled to Southworth. Walsh fled to Graney. McInnis walked. Strunk fled to Southworth. No runs, no hits, no errors.

their service with any degree of success, but with the score eight games all the Longwood pair managed to win on their own service, and then captured the set by taking the 18th game.

Mrs. McLean played by far the best tennis of the four, but toward the latter part of the set Mrs. Wightman made several returns that bordered on the sensational. Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Chapman had an excellent chance to capture the 12th game, with the score 5 games to 5 and 30 love in their favor. Mrs. Chapman missed a ridiculously easy kill at the net and the others took advantage of it by winning the game, making the score 6-5.

CHAMPIONSHIP DOUBLES.

Mrs. G. H. Walcott and Miss Eleanor Sears, Longwood, defeated Mrs. Marshall McLean and Mrs. George L. Chapman, West Hill, 6-4, 6-2.

A bout between Paeky Hommey, of New York, and Kid Williams, bantam champion, may be clinched in Baltimore for July 4. When Harry Lenny was in the Oriole City with Jimmy Murray, Sammy Harris wanted to book the Hommey-Williams bout for 122 pounds, ringside. Lenny insisted on 124 pounds. Negotiations are still on and if the fight is staged they will box 15 rounds at the ball park.

In Baltimore tonight, Louisiana, of this city, will meet Jimmy Blute, of New York, in a 10-round encounter. Jack Hanson is endeavoring to sign up Louie Blute and Kid Williams for a 15-round bout at 115 pounds, ringside. Jimmy Murray is anxious for a third match with the title-holder at 115 pounds.

NEW YORK, June 11.—After months and months of haggling over terms, weights and conditions and what not, Leach Cross, the dentist of the East Side, and Johnny Dundee, the West Side favorite, will meet in the roped arena.

Scotty Montleth, manager of Dundee, and Sam Wallach, manager of Cross, signed articles last night for a ten-round bout to take place at Elbets Field on June 18. This bout will be the last for both men.

LET'S GO FISHIN'

High Water for Local Anglers
Ready to fish in the Atlantic City, Philadelphia, and Delaware Bay.

FRESH WATER NOTES
Dr. Harold Smith and Edward Smith, of Philadelphia, went to Tuckahoe, N. J., Sunday and were well rewarded with the fine catch of pike, one of which measured 30 inches.

Edward Corman, of Philadelphia, has left for the New England States, where he will fish for trout and bass. Later he will investigate the tuna conditions at Block Island.

Miss Magerl, of Philadelphia, a prominent singer, will spend the month of July at Lake Florida, the Adirondacks, where she will follow her favorite sport, fishing for the big ones.

H. G. Bonney, of Philadelphia, is fishing at Pen Yan, N. Y. For lake trout, with fair success. He reports the devastation of that fish by the monster carp, one man spearing 12 carp that averaged 130 pounds that were permitted to rot on the banks so as to deplete their numbers.

Small-mouthed bass will not rise quite as readily to the various wooden minnows as the large mouthed, though some few artificial minnows may be used if carefully selected. The Hildebrandt spoon, with double inch oval blades, and with a bucktail single hook, are desirable for one's outfit and are good for both varieties. In bait casting it is well, in using this lure, that a sinker should be attached a few inches above the spoon to facilitate casting. The same spoon, with various kinds of flies, varying in size from No. 2 to 4, can be used with success. In using this lure for the large-mouthed variety some experts add a piece of pork.

WHERE BASS MAY BE CAUGHT
The following localities have been fished for bass, and where special mention is made should give excellent results: Greenlane, fare $1.60; Graterford, 34 miles from Philadelphia, good bass fishing in the Perkiomen; Frick's Locks, fishing in the Perkiomen, round trip, $1.20; Emburyville, 45 miles from Philadelphia, fare, $1.50; Douglassville, 45 miles from Philadelphia, good bass-fishing in the Susquehanna, round trip, $2.85; Arcola, bass in Perkiomen, round trip, $1; Harvey's Lake, 12 miles from Wilkes-Barre, well known for its bass-fishing, fare, $2.00; Hendricks Station, good bass-fishing, fly-fishing in the Perkiomen; Honesdale, some two dozen well-stocked lakes within easy reach, excellent for bass and pickerel, near the head waters of the Lackawanna; Kimberston, 32 miles from Philadelphia, excellent bass ponds, fare, $1.25; Kraiz, fare, $1; Langhorne, 24 miles from Philadelphia, fare, $1; Lehigh, on the Brandywine, also in Cope's Dam, nearby, some excellent strings of bass caught there, fare, $1.25; McCall's Ferry, 6 miles, bass in lower Susquehanna, fare, $1.00; Monocacy, 45 miles, bass-fishing near station, fare, $1.25; Mortonville, 42 miles, good bass and trout streams nearby, trip, $1.75; Neshaminy, 21 miles, round trip, $1.25; North Brook, 35 miles, round trip, $1.42; Oake, 27 miles, good fly and bait fishing, round trip, $1; Wrightsville, 31 miles, excellent bass-fishing, occasional Susquehanna salmon, fare, $1; Willow Grove, 11 miles, bass in Moran's Dam, fare, 20 cents; Spruce Cabin Inn, fine for bass, trip, $1.45; Rohm's Station, 33 miles, good fly-fishing for bass, trip, $1.00; Port
